

MannaWalk is a project to increase awareness of the millions of children with HIV/AIDS and to raise funds to help these medically fragile youth.

On August 6, 2005, thousands of small local MannaWalk events will take place. At some events the participants will gather together and walk parade-style to demonstrate for the cause. At other events, the walk might be short and less formal, but at every MannaWalk event the symbolic act of Taking One Step to help children with HIV/AIDS will be clear.

MannaWalk is an initiative of MannaRelief, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to improving the health of medically threatened children in the U.S. and throughout the world.

What is this for?

100% of the funds raised from sponsors and donors to local MannaWalk events will be used to provide nutritional programs for children suffering from HIV/AIDS in countries across the globe. Every supported child will receive vitamins, minerals and naturally derived nutritional supplements, called glyconutrients. Glyconutrient-based supplements have been improving the quality of life of children with HIV/AIDS in third world countries for almost five years now.

How will this help children with HIV/AIDS?

In Ghana, after receiving glyconutrients for the resident children with HIV/AIDS, the Haven of Hope orphanage reports that the childrens' overall health is much improved. One orphan, Aishetu, was weak, balding and covered with running sores. After six months of receiving the nutritional supplements her hair is growing back, the sores are healing and she is smiling and playing with other children again.

At a Katmandu orphanage that rescues young girls who have been sold into the sex trade, the death rate of these abandoned children has been stopped and several of the girls have been returned to their villages.

Edith Ssempala, Ugandan Ambassador to the United States says, "The effectiveness of glyconutrients has been proven. I am of the belief that they should be used in the battle against HIV/AIDS that is ravaging the African continent.”

Numerous doctors and medical studies have noted that nutritional supplements delay the progression of the HIV disease.

What Can I Do?

$180 sponsors the nutritional program and medical oversight for one child with HIV/AIDS for six months. That's just $30 a month to bring hope and increased health to one child.

Become a Partner

Partners are the key to MannaWalk's success. Partners are asked to raise a minimum of $180 in donations and are encouraged to participate in the actual local MannaWalk event. Raising $180 doesn't take very long – just ask a few family members and friends, neighbors and business associates to each give $10 or $20 each for this worthy cause and you'll quickly raise enough to help one child.

Participating in a MannaWalk event is easy, just contact the Team Leader of your local MannaWalk event or visit MannaWalk.com, find your local event and sign-up to be a Partner. You'll be doing something wonderful for the children of this world who have little hope otherwise.

Donate

The quickest and easiest way to help MannaWalk is to donate. You can give either by using your credit card, online at MannaWalk.com, or you can give directly by supporting a MannaWalk Partner with a cash donation.

Become a Local Business Sponsor

You or your business can become a sponsor for a minimum contribution of $180. Your name and company logo will appear on the local MannaWalk event web site and your sponsorship will be acknowledged at the MannaWalk event.
